INCREASED EXPOSURE CONSIDERATIONS

Commercial Roofing

Commercial flat-roof work means greater roof heights, occupied multi-tenant buildings, and larger contract values than residential re-roofing. Spray foam adds overspray onto neighboring vehicles and property. Permit records show the work recurs rather than appearing once.

Rooftop Solar Installation

Solar work adds electrical exposure absent from a roofing class. Crews run conduit and wiring, and a fire or leak traced to an array's roof penetrations becomes a completed-operations claim.

Insurance Claim Assistance

Offering to handle a homeowner's claim from start to finish can stray into public adjusting, a separately licensed activity in most states. That carries professional liability and regulatory exposure a roofing class does not contemplate.
